This Population Atlas reflects the population pattern of the (Kaziranga National Park) Area in the context of male, female, SC, ST population figures, No. of households with village locations, male-female occupation etc. Smt.Asmita Das a student of B.Planning from MANIT Bhopal prepared the Atlas under the guidance of Shri Manijyoti Baruah, SRO, Transformation & Developmet Department and Dr.C.R.Deka Sr.Scientist of Assam Remote sensing & Space Application Centre (ARSAC).

Introduction

Kaziranga National park originally covered an area of 430 sq. Km which has been extended to 858.98 sq. Km for better habitat of flora and fauna. But the rich biodiversity is highly threatened due to organised poaching and habitat degradation. As per the last census (2011), population of one horned rhinoceros is around 2290 in Kaziranga National Park. Other than one horned rhinoceros, it provides habitat to Royal Bengal tigers, Asiatic water buffalo, Asian elephant, sambar, barking deer, swamp deer, hoolock gibbon, capped langur, 480 bird species approximately, etc. Annual floods and subsequent migration of major wildlife to nearby KarbiAnglong hill are commonly seen.

Despite a well organised forest department supported by different national and international organizations, the park is facing problems like poaching and habitat encroachment. International wildlife traders continue their activities with support of the local poachers. So to tackle the prevailing problems of the Kaziranga National park, a project study named “Kaziranga Landscaping through Community Participation“ has been initiated by Planning and Development department, Government of Assam in association with GRASSHOPPER and SIRD Assam.

The main problem identified by the department is that the poachers use web of networks engaging poor villagers of fringe area and the villagers are unaware or ignorant about the impact of those issues on the biodiversity of the kaziranga, a world heritage site. Other problems such as degradation of gene of original wild water buffalo due to mixing with domestic ones, invasion of weeds in grassland, increased man-animal conflict. Guarding the animals during floods is a real challenge to the forest department of that area. So community participation is must for the conservation efforts. In spite of the efforts made by forest department poachers are still active in the area using latest technology.

Basic objectives of the project are to convert the existing subsistence economy to self sustaining economy capable of furthering growth based on traditional eco-friendly activities and occupations, to develop and give more impetus to the existing tourism potential by harnessing local people and natural trait, to present the rich and diversified cultural legacy of the local tribes viz. Mishings, Karbis and Ex tea garden communities keeping in view the tourism prospects and potential and the last one is to create a resource centre for skill development and capacity building.

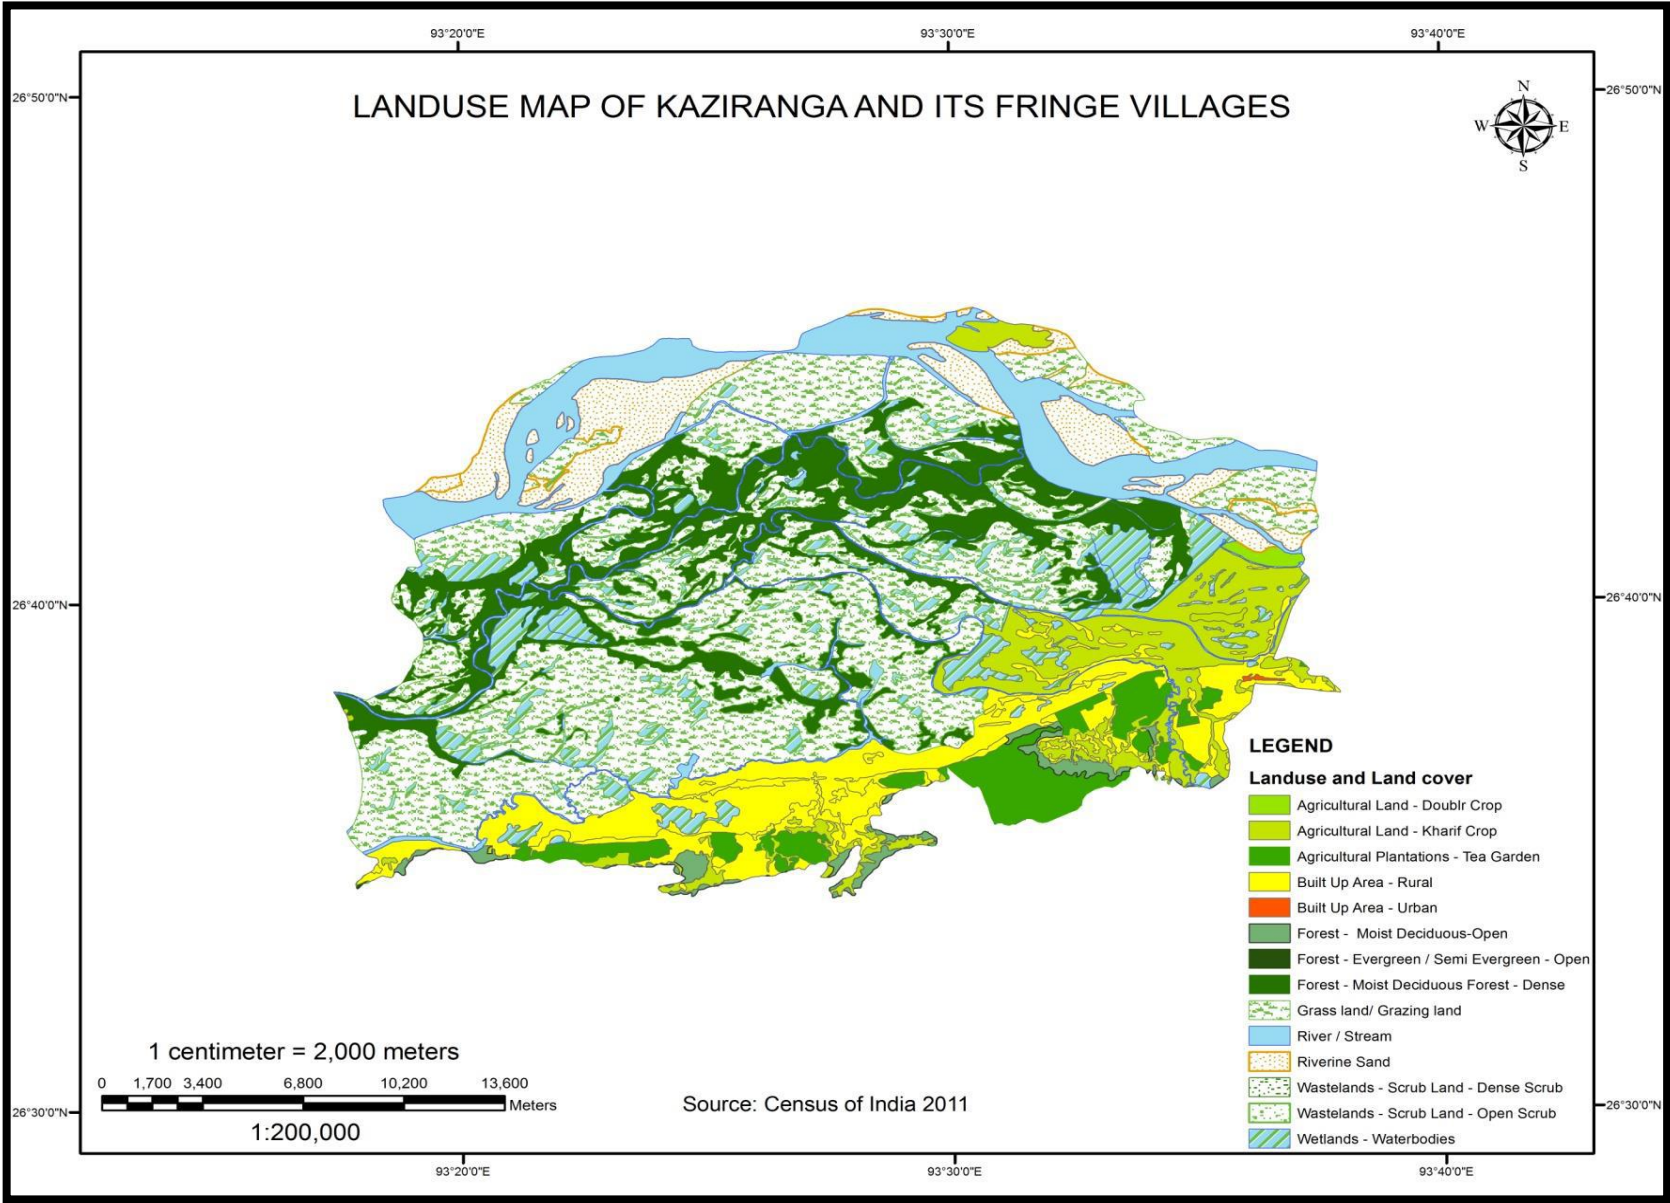

The methodology of the plan is to evaluate the socio-economic condition of selected fringe areas of Kaziranga, resource mapping of the area on geographical information system and remote sensing platform, soil survey is to be done so as to take up suitable agricultural activities, awareness program in fringe areas shall be conducted, development of eco-friendly livelihood in the villages with the help of local Gaon Panchayats and other facilitator like social workers active in that area will be done. The people prone to get attracted to illegal activities for their livelihood are also benefited by the project activities.

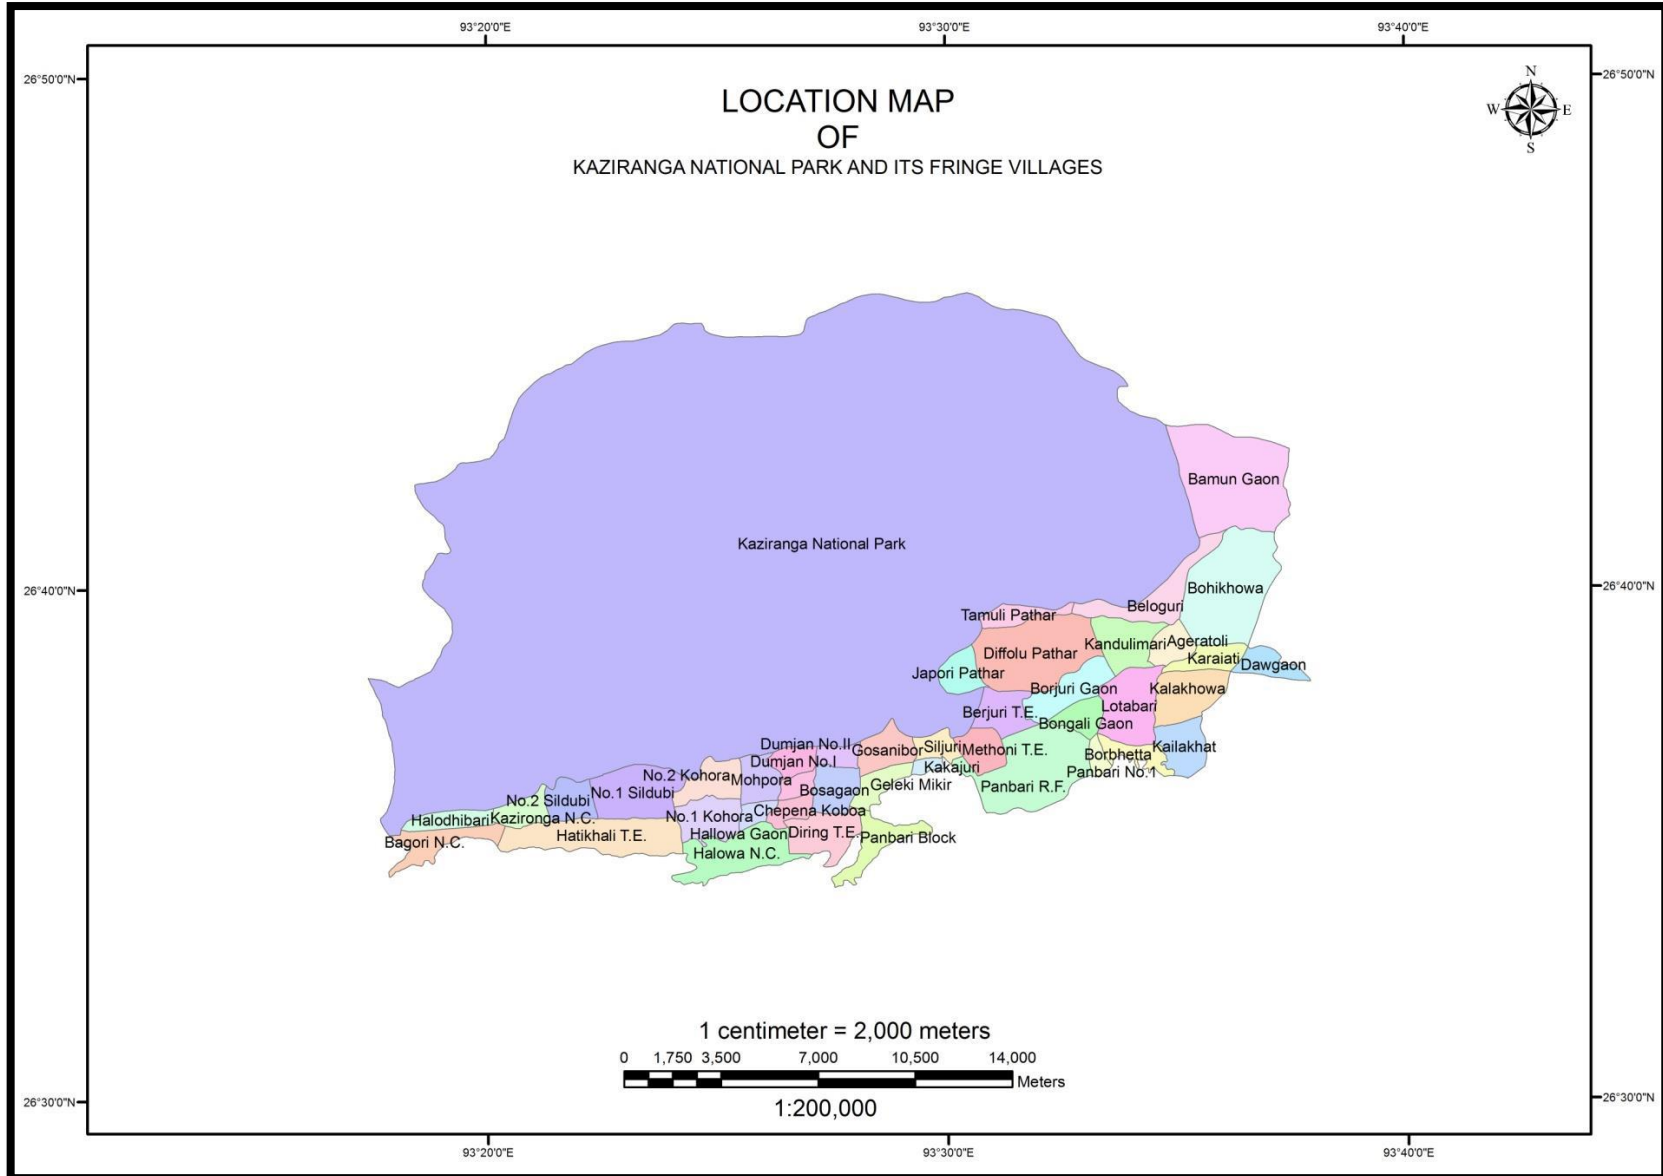

The work plan includes confidence building measures among the rural poor/target groups, organizing as many awareness camps as possible coupled with health and veterinary vaccines camps to reach the rural poor. A detailed socio economic survey is being held with the help of village panchayats, local NGOs and help from the govt. officials or agencies of Health, Agriculture, Veterinary and Forest departments. GIS or RS mapping of the entire area has to be done; specific economic activities and welfare measures have to be taken up that are traditional and eco-friendly in nature and are highly remunerative. Keeping these objectives in mind, economic activities are to be taken up across the Kaziranga National Park area covering all the panchayats; necessary campaign to popularize government supported welfare and economic schemes in agriculture and allied activities.

Strategies adopted to achieve our objectives include,

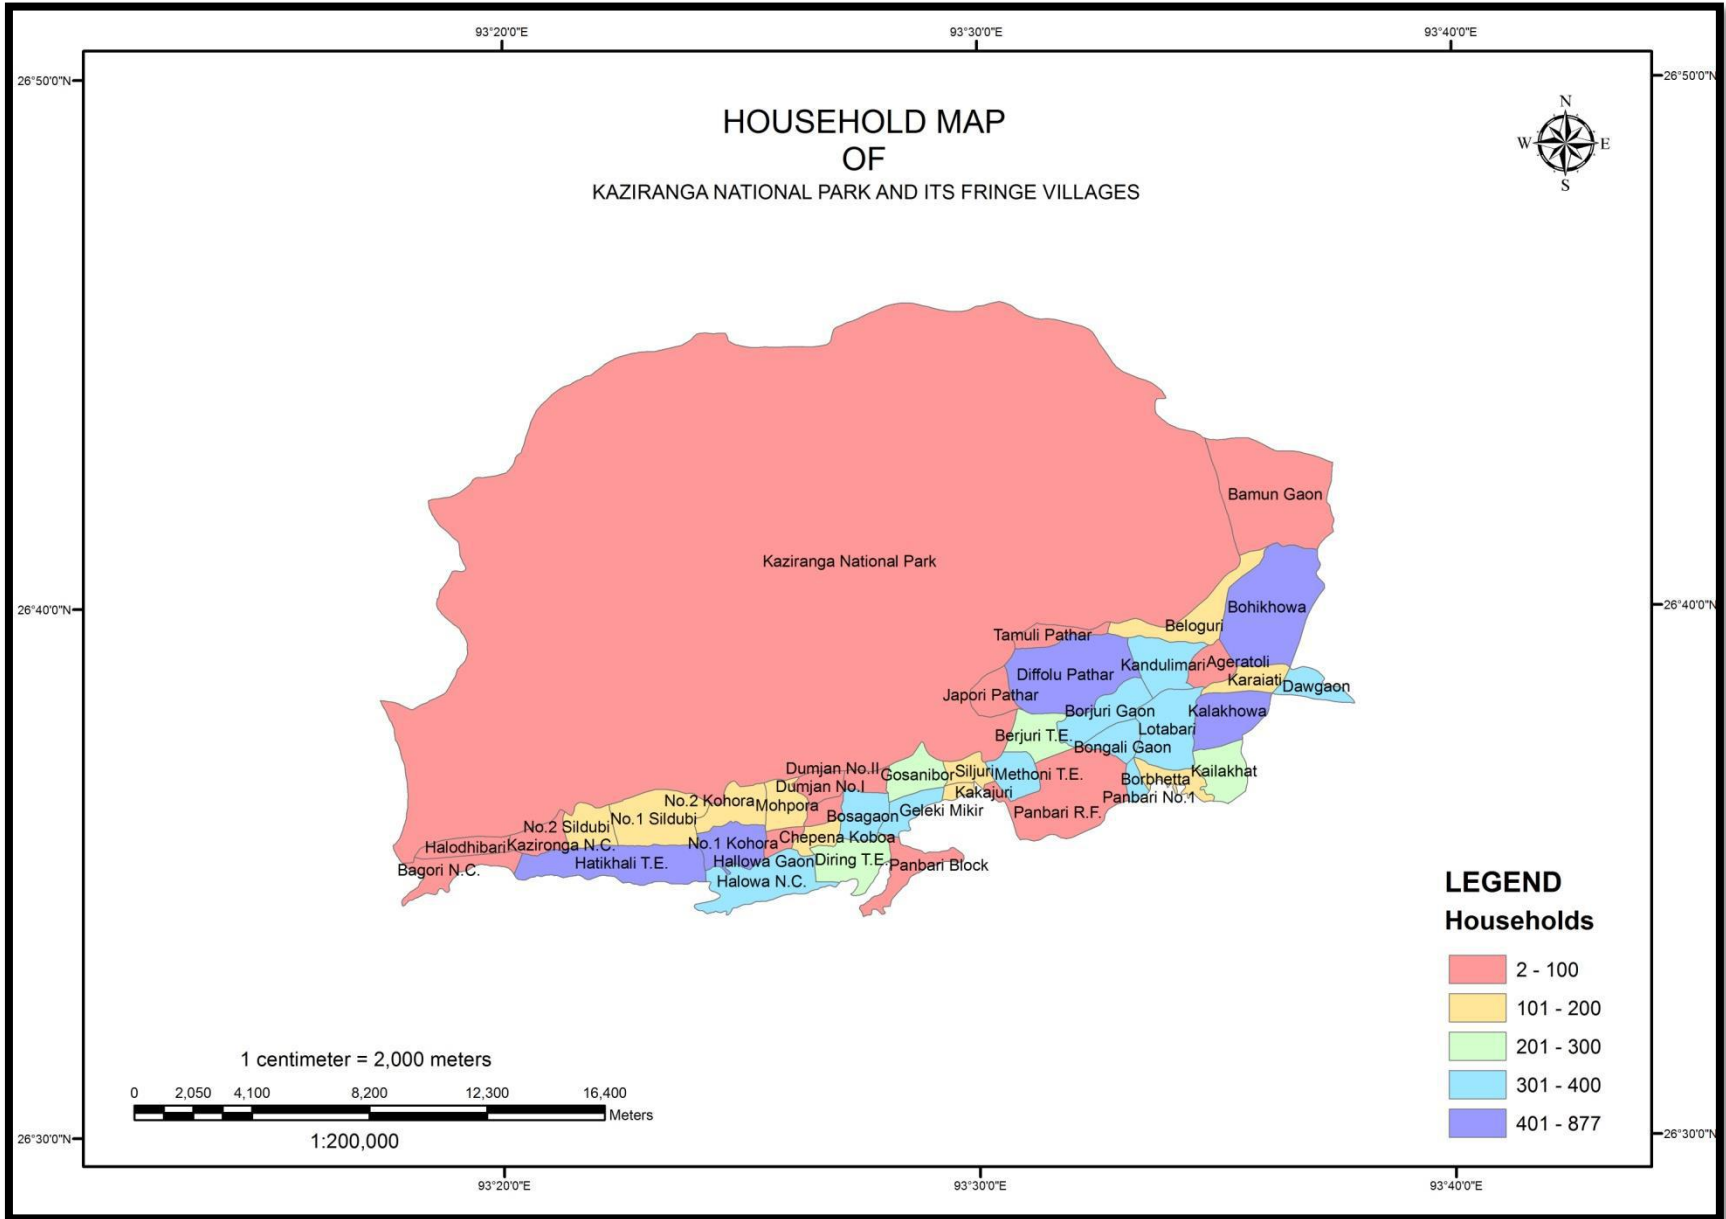

1. Awareness programs / PRAs with welfare activities.
2. Capacity building in traditional and non-traditional economic activities compatible with nature.
3. Linking of govt. packages/schemes to the economic activities for benefit of the rural poor.
4. Our study is in progress for creation of a comprehensive database of the area on Geographical Information System and Remote Sensing. The objective is to integrate the GIS based information with a robust MIS for the purpose of research, planning management and monitoring of the area. By developing a web based portal giving every details of households with mapping of both natural and man made resources it would be easier to identify the gaps in the development process.
